In FY2015, the industry exports are projected to grow between 13-15 Percent, while domestic market revenues are expected to revive post elections, and grow by 9-12 percent.

The market is competitive and Bgil has to reckon with threats from competitors including their disruptive tactics, intense demand for global talent, attrition of employees, technological obsolescence, and adverse change in foreign currency rates and changes in Government policies related to restrictions on outsources services from other countries. Emergence and spread of nuclear family concept world over has increased feeling of insecurity. Besides, growing terrorism, new legislations and technological advances are driving world Electronic Security Market.

The Indian economy did not remain untouched from the global fall-out, even though it was insulated to some extent. The growth momentum slowed considerably. As against a handsome consistent growth of little over 8% and 8.5% in GDP for the years 2009-10 and 2010-11 respectively, the GDP registered a growth of about 6.5% in the year 2011-12. Also some key economic indicators like industrial production, gross fixed capital formation, current account deficit, depreciation of rupee vis-à-vis US dollar, have given bearish signal. The untamed inflation despite various efforts by the Central Bank, has been a major cause of concern for the Government. All these lead to fiscal deterioration.

The market for India combines the organized and unorganized sectors; wherein organized Sector comprise only 20% of the market but account for 80% of the revenue generated and is expected to grow handsomely over the next 5-10 years, making India an evolving business market with lot of growth potential still left ahead. Despite, the Indian security industry is set to enter a higher growth trajectory, and offer immense potential for those who are able to find the right mix of price, technology and awareness.
